

WILSON WARNS REBELS NOT TO INTERFERE WITH ACTION AGAINST HUERTA

SWIFT REFUSAL TO CARRANZA DEMAND

whenever the dignity of the United States is flouted in its international rights, or the rights of its citizens invaded, or its influence rebuffed where it has the right to attempt to exercise it this government must deal with this actually in control.

Facts Are Not Altered

It is now dealing with General Huerta within the territory he controls. That he does not rightfully control it does not alter the fact that he does control it. We are dealing more over only with those whom he commands and with those who come to his support. With these we must deal.

They do not lawfully represent the people of Mexico. In that fact we rejoice, because our quarrel is not with the Mexican people and we do not desire to dictate their affairs. But we must enforce our rightful demand upon those whom the existing authorities, at the place where we act do for the time being, represent.

This statement was handed out at the White House by Secretary to the President, Tamm, without comment, but it was well understood that the President's utterances were to be taken as a reply to the note sent to Secretary of State Bryan by General Carranza.

The words "We are dealing only with those whom Huerta commands and those who come to his support," were regarded as a notice to General Carranza that he and his men would not be molested unless they joined forces with Huerta.

The President's statement came as the result of the Carranza note which reached the State Department last night, and which stated that the American invasion of Mexico is an act hostile to all Mexicans.

Direct Warning to Rebels.

The administration still hopes that Carranza can be persuaded from joining Huerta, and the President's statement today is intended as a direct warning to the rebels that they can expect no consideration if they oppose the American forces.

Leaders of Congress will back up President Wilson in the position he has taken as to Carranza.

Senator Shively, acting chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, said that there had been no change in the affirmative policy of the United States.

"Carranza's note received here last night does not change the situation at all," he said.

"Neither does it have any effect upon our affirmative policy. As I understand it, Carranza's note was not at all aggressive, but merely was a statement of fact."

When asked if we would recognize war if Huerta were to declare it, Senator Shively replied with a grim smile, "Well, I guess we would make a note of it."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 23.—Headquarters of the Southern Division, United States Army, received instructions early this morning to re-establish at once the embargo on arms and ammunition into Mexico. This statement was made at Fort Sam Houston. The order came from the War Department and was issued here early today.

Raising Troop of Students from Harvard

Not to be outdone by Yale, a volunteer troop of infantry will be organized next week at Harvard, under the leadership of Captain "Bill" Barron, of the track team, and will be ready to volunteer if needed in the event of invasion.

Since Mariel of Yale, started to organize a cavalry company for service at the New Haven college, there has been much talk of doing the same thing at Harvard, but now the infantry seems to be the choice of the Cambridge students.

Captain Barron was seen at the Harvard Union just before leaving for Philadelphia for the Pennsylvania track meet, and stated that many of the students wanted to go to Mexico.

"A lot of the fellows belong to the militia, and some of them were up to us down there," said Barron.

"I think, when they all get back from vacation, we will be able to form a good sized company and, if we are needed, we will be able to go down there."

There are a large number of Harvard men in the First Corps of Cadets, Battery and the National Laureate. During the Lawrence strike they did good, picking the mill yards.

FLAG INSULT STIRTS RIOT AT NEW YORK MEETING OF I. W. W.

NEW YORK, April 23.—An open air meeting in Park Row, opposite City Hall, ended in a riot when a former United States sailor tried to attack a speaker representing the "Anti-Military" sentiment, who had shouted at the top of his voice:

"The American flag is not fit to defend."

Police reserves had to use their clubs before the crowd could be dispersed.

According to the police, the meeting was held under the auspices of the Industrial Workers of the World and the speakers, it was said, were members of that organization.

THE PRODIGAL SON

"A Par Country." Winston Churchill's greatest and latest novel, is based on the biblical question concerning the prodigal son: "and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living." Churchill's "A Par Country" is greater and far more daring than any of his previous work. You can't afford to miss it. It is just starting in Hersey's Magazine.

DR. BRIDGES SCORES ATTACK ON NORTH END

A passionate defense of the Italian residents of the North End is contained in a letter from Dr. Bruce Bridges, president of the Boston branch of the Dante Alighieri Society, to the North Bennet Street Industrial School.

Former Ambassador Curtis Guild is honorary president of the society and Carlo Grillo is vice-president. Dr. Bridges takes exception to statements in the annual report of the North Bennet Street Industrial School, as follows:

North Bennet Street Industrial School, Boston. In your report of last year you have chosen to draw an unfavorable picture of the people of the North End. If up to the present we have patiently borne many an insult, we feel now that the time has come when we must protest against any defamatory statement.

Next this district used to be the seat of fashion and prosperity. But we like to inquire who was it that drove the aristocratic and refined Yankee from the North End? Certainly it was not the Italian, for when he came here, this place was the abode of poverty and undesirable women. We happen to remember the famous dancing halls where immorality reigned supreme, and some of our pioneers inform us that neither life nor property was safe for this district was infested with thugs of the most desperate type.

No, gentlemen of the North Bennet Street Industrial School, you cannot see any ill children at present in the North End; our children are eminently intelligent and bright; you cannot see today any squalor or ignorance among us, because we like work and are endowed with natural intelligence; but if you had been in this district when the Italian had not come yet, you could have seen plenty of dull and ignorant people, stupified by liquor, during their time away in front of bar-rooms or street corners.

POINTS OUT CHANGES.

What is the North End today? We agree with you that the place is full of houses, carts and market produce, but what does this prove? Doesn't it prove that the inhabitants of the North End, have changed it from the abode of outcasts into an industrial district where honest men and honest women attend industriously to their daily tasks. In other words haven't we moralized the place?

Yes, you may meet a prim-faced woman carrying a load of wood or other things on her head; but don't you, who are so to the painted and drunkard female, silk dress and costly planned bonnet, who thought worldly clean, is inwardly filthy? Your buildings are clean, well-kept, and they may well be so, for you have them so well every year; while the Italian here, dressed in high cut and low wages, does remarkably well in keeping the house he keeps. Do other people of the same class receiving much higher wages do just as well?

STREETS NEGLECTED.

Our streets are unclean. It is true; but are we to blame if local authorities are fit to neglect us? There is one thing that you may bring against us and it is this, namely that the politicians of the North End do not know how to take care of the district they represent.

There is no gaudiness that the Italian is by nature economical, thrifty, industrious.

If you are to examine the books at the assessors' office, you will find that over 70 per cent of the property of the North End is owned by Italians. If you ask American banks they will tell you what a profitable customer the Italian is. If you inquire of the city collector you will find out how promptly and surely the Italian pays his taxes.

Where is this "voracious expense" and this "menace to the State"? Perhaps these who make their living by working for the North Bennet Street Industrial School have been unconsciously prompted by self-interest to draw a dark picture of the people of the North End, but self-interest does not justify lies.

We are tired of this systematic defamation, and the Dante Alighieri Society, which stands for the defense of the Italian name, most strongly protests against it, and calls upon all who would be reformers and social workers to put an end to it once for ever.

Respectfully yours,
R. BRIDGES,
President.

BOSTON GIRL OFFERS SERVICE AS WAR NURSE

Filled with a desire to nurse the wounded soldiers in Mexico and showing the patriotic spirit that has made Massachusetts women famous in previous wars, Miss Margaret Marie Collins of No. 9 Rutland street, a graduate nurse, applied to Captain Edward Croft of the United States army recruiting office today for enlistment in the Red Cross or Hospital Corps.

It is believed that Miss Collins is the first woman in the country who has offered her services, at any rate it is an established fact that she is the first woman in New England who has so far shown a desire to serve her country.

"I want to join the Red Cross or the hospital corps. I am a trained nurse, a graduate of the Massachusetts General Hospital and have had several years' experience. I understand first aid and will take my chances in the front."

"I want to go to Mexico, the quicker the better. I want to be right on the firing line," she told the commanding officer.

Miss Collins was told that nurses were not enlisted in Boston, but that she would have to write to the surgeon-general at Washington. She was informed that if accepted and sent with the Red Cross.

"Where then is the case, I will be in Washington before the week is over," she said.

Mills Closed by Floods at Berlin, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 23.—Traffic on the Grand Trunk Railroad from North Stratford to Ullad was endangered by the overflow of the Merrimack river, which has overflowed the low banks, inundated cellars and basements of homes near the river. The Dundee Mills were closed and 400 hands thrown out of work.

Confusion in Names Explained

On April 17 an item was published stating that a petition in bankruptcy had been filed by the Zinn Flange Shop of No. 34 West street. In order that the public may not confuse the business which went into bankruptcy with the well known florist, Mr. Zinn of No. 10 Park street, it is proper to state that the business which failed had no connection with Mr. Zinn of No. 10 Park street.

Passenger Hurt on Hamburg Liner

Constantin Kostenko, a steamer passenger on the Hamburg-American liner Rhaetian, which arrived here today, was removed to St. Mary's Hospital suffering from a broken leg caused by slipping on the deck of the steamer. The Rhaetian docked at the Commonwealth pier and brought twenty-seven cabin and 330 steerage passengers.

Peabody Man a Suicide.

Lazarus Youvon, living at No. 19 Union street, Peabody, was found dead in his room, with his throat cut by a razor. A carving knife lay at his side.

Attention, Mayor Curley!

You want the City of Boston to pay the Electric Light Company $87.53 a lamp for 4,500 lamps. This means that it will cost Boston for every year $393,885. BUT the City of St. Louis only pays $49.65 for the same kind of lamp burning longer hours. If you had cut down the price of the Electric Light Company to the sum St. Louis pays, you would have saved the city more than one hundred and seventy thousand dollars a year.

This is three times the saving you wish to effect out of the wages of the firemen of Boston, who risk their lives in the public service.

The Electric Light Company is paying 12 per cent dividends. Its stock is worth more than double its par value. Do you not think that this company can stand a reduction a little better than our firemen, our policemen, matrons and clerks?

SAUGUS SCHOOL STRIKERS GO BACK TO STUDY

The 250 striking boys and girls at the Saugus High School returned to their studies today on the announcement by the school board that it would grant a hearing to James F. Butterworth, a member of the board, who was the manner in which Mr. Butterworth's resignation was accepted, or the board that caused the pupils strike.

The boys and girls returned quietly, but it is to be known that if punishment of any or all of their number was attempted they would immediately strike again. The pupils declare their strike a complete victory.

Chairman James C. Hyer of the school board was at school when the boys and girls came in. There was no demonstration. Lessons were resumed.

Voters of the town who sympathize with Mr. Butterworth planned today to call for a special town meeting to elect a new school board.

WILSON PRESIDENT CAUSE OF ANXIETY TO HIS PHYSICIAN

PRESIDENT WILSON'S DEEPER WAR TOLL

WASHINGTON, April 22.—When the President was informed at 2:30 o'clock this morning that there had been additional casualties at Vera Cruz his eyes filled with tears and he almost sobbed as he said:

"It's too bad, too bad."

Those who know the President best say that he had hoped until the last that the occupation of Vera Cruz and the ensuing occupations against Huerta would be bloodless.

For the first time today Dr. Cary T. Grayson was seriously worried over the condition of his patient, President Wilson. The President, despite his weakened condition, insisted on remaining out of bed until long after midnight to receive the latest news from Vera Cruz and had Dr. Grayson protest in vain, saying that the bulletins would keep until morning.

I want to know everything as soon as possible, the President stated emphatically, and issued orders that every wireless dispatch received at the big radio station at Arlington, Va., should be hurried to the White House at once.

Receipt of word that Carranza had practically allied himself with Huerta in delaying the United States also came as a great shock to the President. It was indicated that the American forces would have to face an united Mexico instead of fighting a portion of the troops of law and public.

The President's engagement state was wiped clean today and all the time held open for his patients success, with cabinet officers. The President had promised to attend the opening game at the Washington American League Baseball Park this afternoon, but it is certain that he will not be present.

MARINES RUSHED TO SAN DIEGO; PACIFIC COAST TO BE GUARDED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The cruiser South Dakota and the electric cable ship were left here for San Diego. The Japanese cable ship, the South Dakota, has 200 marines who were brought from Bremerhaven, and 200 who were sent to San Diego. The marines are to be left at the advance base at San Diego.

Orders have been received at the Marine Corps that the cruiser South Dakota is to be ready for Mexican duty. The ship had all her own stores and provisions aboard, but began at once loading 3000 rounds of ammunition for the vessels of the Pacific fleet in Mexico.

The cruiser Cleveland, now at Mare Island, is under orders to sail for Mexico Saturday. She has no marines on board.

800 COFFINS SENT ON U. S. TRANSPORTS TO MEXICAN COAST

GALVESTON, Tex., April 22.—Eight hundred coffins today were aboard the army transports here, which are stocked and ready to carry the 5th Brigade of the United States Army to Mexico. The transports carry two months' subsistence for the 4000 men of the Fifth Brigade, and the provisions having been included at the last moment. At the last moment were made to put aboard only about thirty days' provisions.

It was stated today that from eighteen to twenty-four hours would be required to make the transports ready to sail. The men and equipment could be taken aboard in a few hours.

LONDON PAPERS SEE ALLIANCE OF MEXICAN FORCES

LONDON, April 22.—Alliance of the Constitutionalists and Huertistas of Mexico to fight the United States is predicted by the leading London papers today. The Daily Mail Gazette says:

"President Wilson's attempt to distinguish between Carranza and Huerta and war with Mexico is likely to be nullified by a union of the Federalists and Constitutionalists to oppose the invaders. Mr. Root showed the true justification for action in the

PLAN TO HONOR HAGGERTY'S PUBLIC FUNERAL

Daniel A. Haggerty, the first American killed in the war in Mexico as the marines were making a landing at Vera Cruz, will be given a public funeral in Cambridge, Mayor Good of that city announces.

Haggerty's father and mother, as well as his two sisters, were nearly prostrated with grief, following the messenger of sympathy from Washington, and only implored help in having the body taken to his home at No. 15 Harding street.

On Monday from Secretary of the Navy Daniels is as follows: "Heartfelt sympathy extended by government in loss of your son at Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 21, 1914. His patriotic courage places his name in the honor roll of our country's defenders."

(Signed) "JOSEPHUS DANIELS, Secretary of the Navy." Secretary Daniels also sent the following message to the father of the four men killed in the first day's fighting:

Dispatches from Vera Cruz conveying the distressing news that your son was in the first line to give his life for his country, and that all America as the tragedy brings gloom into your home.

My feeling and the feeling of the President to you in this sad hour was expressed by President Lincoln, when on November 21, 1863, he wrote to Mrs. Bixby of Boston, whose five sons gave their lives fighting under the American flag.

I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn promise that must be yours to have laid no costly sacrifice upon the altar of Freedom.

Congressman Leitch of Cambridge spoke in the House, endorsing Private Haggerty, saying that men from his district had shed first blood in several wars of the Republic.

Flags Speak for City's Patriotism

Planes and bunting made their appearance here and there in the city today as the people began to show their patriotic support of the President and the Mexican campaign.

The American building at No. 22 summer street was one of the first to be decorated. Sturdy flags the front of the building; pennants hung between the windows, and two great flags ran above the door.

With the news of Americans dead on the streets of Vera Cruz and with word of rebel threats and "anti-amercians" a flame of patriotic fervor swept the city today. The streets in front of the AMERICAN building were crowded with men and women waiting to see the war bulletin; and to forward the call was all of war, and war was war.

HAGGERTY OF CAMBRIDGE

BY MORTON BIRGE

Again the Bay State's honored dead was first to lie where duty led.

When Corporal Daniel Haggerty gave up his valiant soul. We know not how the list may grow ere we prevail o'er Mexico. But one brave name—this Cambridge lad—will always head the scroll.

No greater love of country runs in breasts of all the Nation's sons Than this—to march where duty calls, no matter what beides. The greatest sacrifice of all was this youth's answer to the call.

Which led him first to glory, where forever he abides.

National Cemetery as may be desired. By the families of the deceased. All expenses of the dead will be defrayed by the United States.

NAVY CHARTERS 20 HUB VESSELS AS TRANSPORTS

There are twenty-eight Boston vessels today which, in the opinion of government officials, would make suitable transports. They are all engaged in the coastwise trade. While there are other vessels from Boston port, locally owned, they fly the English flag and are not available for service.

The original plans of the twenty-eight American ships are now in the office of the United States Quartermaster, Colonel Wintrop B. Wood. The blueprints of the alterations necessary on each ship to convert it into a transport have been made. Already, also, shipbuilding firms in Boston have the plans of the proposed alterations and know exactly what is to be done on each vessel. All are waiting for the word to go ahead.

RUSH TO ENLIST MAY KEEP BOSTON OFFICES OPEN NIGHT AS WELL AS DAY

SCENES AT RECRUITING STATION, SERGEANT SHIEL TESTING APPLICANT

BOSTON MEN EAGER TO SEE THICK OF BATTLE

Boston's recruiting offices were thronged with men today, each desiring of enlisting in the service. At the army recruiting station on Tremont Row nearly 100 men have applied for enlistment, while nearly as many took the examinations at the marine office on Hanover street. The navy headquarters on Tremont street was exceptionally busy, many of the applicants being accepted and sent to the navy yard for further examination.

Today was undoubtedly the busiest in the history of service recruiting since the days of the Spanish War. The standard requirements for enlistment have not yet been changed and each applicant was put through the rigid examination. Of the 100 who applied at the army station over a score were accepted and tonight notices will be being looking up their references. It is expected that by tomorrow nearly fifty men will be sent to New York to report for duty.

Sergeant H. M. Robbins, who makes the examinations at the army station, found several men awaiting him in the corridor when he opened the office today.

So great was the rush that Captain Court called upon Sergeant John Ward, who usually makes the physical examinations, to assist in the work.

Of the applicants nearly a dozen were Boston Elevated employees. One young man who gave the name of Howard Pierce, said he was a personal friend of Corporal D. A. Haggerty, the Commodore's marine who was killed at Vera Cruz. "I want to get where the fighting is the thickest," he said.

When it was evident that everyone attached to the station would have his hands full the telephone were put into commission, and instead of personally seeing the references the private called the employers of applicants on the phone.

At the marine office, too, Sergeant Captain W. H. Parker, who has been in charge of the New England States recruiting for this branch of the service, is awaiting further orders from Washington.

He was ordered to report to the navy yard and take charge of a company of marines. When he reported a later order was received and he remained in the city. It is expected he will go to the League Island yard at Philadelphia and assume command of a detachment of marines on the Moro Cruise, which is fitting out to take the sun to Tampico.

The recruits at the marine office were examined by Sergeant R. H. Shiel and Corporal Frank O. Brown. Many were rejected because of age, height or minor defects. If the rush continues the offices will probably be kept open at night to allow those who work during the day to take the tests.

the motor boat business at Tampico, Mex., in conjunction with Alfred Collins, son of Town Clerk N. E. Collins, has, according to advices received, been obliged to seek refuge with other Americans on board the U. S. S. Utah in Tampico harbor. Mexican Federal troops are camped in the yard of the boat factory. Poyen's residence is inside the danger zone and has been struck several times by stray Mexican bullets. The parents of both Mr. Poyen and Mr. Collins have been on the anxious seat for several days on account of the war rumors, and were greatly relieved when they learned that the Utah had afforded a place of safety.

AMERICAN, ENGLISH AND GERMAN SAILORS SHOT AT BY MEXICANS
GALVESTON, Tex., April 22.—American sailors were fired upon by a Mexican gunboat at Tampico on several occasions, and once German and English sailors were fired upon according to Chief Engineer Murray of the steamer Herbert G. Wylie, which has arrived here from Tampico.

H. A. Alwood, M. D., Dallas, Tex., states that in Tampico, Mexican soldiers shot at sailors in the harbor. The ship was in the harbor every three days. Ask for A. K. Alwood, Northwestern Lumber.

Murray said he had seen the Mexican gunboat Vera Cruz "take potshots" at cutters flying the United States flag. He said on one occasion cutters from an American man of war and German and English boats went ashore without their flags flying, the occupants landing and starting about toward the village of Donna Cecilia. The Vera Cruz dropped a shell near them. Occupants of all three boats then hurried back to the waterfront where they hoisted their flags in their respective boats, and there was no more firing.

WALSH PRAISES MAN FROM CAMBRIDGE WHO LOST LIFE IN MEXICO

"The young Cambridge man who was the first to die on Mexican soil made a great sacrifice to add lustre to the name of Massachusetts," declared Governor Walsh in speaking before the South End Improvement Association. "We have still in this Commonwealth men who are ready to go out and fight in the same cause. These men if called will not hesitate to give up their lives if it is necessary."

DECLARES U. S. ONLY CAN PACIFY MEXICO

"Only the United States can bring peace to Mexico," declared today James K. Robinson of New York, who is in Boston, having just returned from his work as an engineer in Mexico.

"While our intervention is a serious matter, calling for both force and diplomacy it does not mean the shedding of blood and the expenditure of great amounts of money, as the general impression appears."

OPINION FOR INTERVENTION.
Thousands of Mexicans have been paying for intervention every day and while there will be resistance at first, it is only a matter of days before our troops will be in possession of every square and many of the inland cities. They will be taken with as little trouble as Vera Cruz.

"But when this has been accomplished, when we have brought Mexico to her knees, then the most serious difficulty of all will confront us. Mexico is utterly incapable of governing itself. Internal strife has set every man against the other, each seeking advancement and political prestige no matter how they might be obtained. The United States must continue to occupy the country and establish a protectorate."

U. S. ARMY TO FIGHT 1,044,000 MEXICANS

BIG RESERVE ARMY TO MEET REBELS

WASHINGTON, April 23.—If all Mexicans respond to the call of patriotism and join forces against the United States, the government of the southern republic will be able to put an army of 1,044,000 men into the field. These figures are based on careful estimates made by Harry H. Dunn, former news editor of La Prensa and the Daily Mexican at Mexico City. He wrote the following analysis of the military situation for the International News Service.

By HARRY H. DUNN.

When I entered Mexico, rather more than six years ago, General Manuel Gonzalez Costa was Minister of War. I gained as a newspaper man an intimate acquaintance with him, and made a close study of the army and navy somewhat later, and have had an excellent opportunity to compare the armies of Mexico under the Presidency of Porfirio Diaz and Francisco I. Madero, Francisco De La Barra and Victoriano Huerta. The army did not figure much in the 26-minute Presidency of Pedro Lascurain.

Porfirio Diaz lost his grip on Mexico largely because more than half of his army existed only on paper. When the Madero revolution started the files of the War Department showed that the Federal government had 32,000 men under arms in all branches of the service.

10,000 FICTITIOUS NAMES.

When the troops began actually to go out into the field, however, it was discovered that there were only about 16,000 who responded to the roll call. More than 16,000 others were fictitious names padded into the rolls whose every month went into the pockets of certain officials who went to Mexico quite suddenly when Diaz discovered he had been tricked.

Francisco Madero, who, when he became president in the fall of 1911, started a reorganization of the army was not so deceived; neither was General Victoriano Huerta, when he became president by the overthrow of Madero in 1913.

The Mexican army today is composed of approximately 35,000 men, infantry, cavalry and artillery. It is nearly three times as large as it was in 1911, and is the most efficient body of fighting men

Here Is Complete List of Mexico's Fighting Force

THE ARMY.

Federal army of Mexico, according to President Huerta's last message to Congress, 83,000.

Rebel army, northern Mexico, according to General Carranza's figures, 42,000.

Rebel army, southern Mexico, under command of Emiliano Zapata, Genovevo De La O and Peno Mora, who probably will be thrown into the common defence of the republic, 10,500.

Volunteer forces in twenty-two loyal States to be used to repel foreign invasion as announced by Minister of War Blanquet in El Diario, official organ of the Mexican government, 900,000.

Total land forces, 1,044,000.

THE NAVY.

Armored transport-gunboat General Guerrero. Gunboats, Vera Cruz, Bravo Morelos, Democrata, Tampico; latter held by rebels.

Corvettes Zaragoza and Yucatan. Transport Progresso.

Question for them they gave their repeating rifles and ammunition to the civilian men and women who were staying at home, raising corn and beans for the fighting rebels to eat.

WOMEN ENLISTED. This distribution of rifles and ammunition has created a silent but potential force of nearly 25,000 men and women—for in Mexico internal wars, the women have fought side by side with the men with equal effectiveness—who are in duty bound to respond to Zapata's call, should he deem it necessary to raise a larger force for any purpose.

He has almost undisputed possession of the States of Mexico, Guerrero and Puebla, therefore he needs no more soldiers for his fight against the Federal government. A foreign war, however, would have other matter, and though I have not included the foreign farmers in my estimates of the Mexicans who would follow the advance of the American army, I have no doubt they also would be able to carry out the plan, 1,000,000 men.

But all the fighting under arms in Mexico—placing the combined Northern and Southern rebels at 60,000 and the Federal army at 83,000—are all, according to Minister of War Blanquet, is that the total force available through these organizations is about 200,000 men.

This force is gathered, for the most part in the larger towns of the States here listed, all such towns being accessible by railroads easily accessible to the national capital and thence to the ports.

NAVY IS NEGLIGIBLE.

The navy of Mexico is negligible; no realizer from the American navy could dispose of it in an afternoon's engagement. It consists of the armored transport, gunboat, General Guerrero; the gunboats Vera Cruz, Bravo Morelos, Democrata and Tampico; the latter held by the rebels in the west coast where the Moriscos also stationed; the corvettes Zaragoza and Yucatan and the transport and training ship Progresso.

MARINES AND MEXICANS IN HAND TO HAND BATTLE IN VERA CRUZ HOUSES

GADET STRONGHOLD BATTERED TO PEECES

By A. M. JAMIESON.

Special Correspondent of the International News Service with the Atlantic Fleet.

VERA CRUZ, April 23.—The Stars and Stripes were over Vera Cruz today, but only after a heavy loss of life to the attacking force of American marines and bluejackets and to the Mexicans who defended the city.

A dozen of the Americans were killed and from 250 to 300 Mexicans were shot down while persistently resisting the advance of the United States forces.

More than 200 Mexicans were taken prisoners and lodged on board the protected cruiser San Francisco.

Acting under orders from Rear Admiral Badger, American sailors and marines started in today to clean up the city and to capture or drive out the "snipers" or Mexican sharpshooters who have kept up an intermittent fire upon the invaders since the American landing forces first touched Mexican soil on Tuesday.

Hand to Hand Fighting.

Detachments of Americans made an organized search through all houses flanking the streets. In some instances the hidden Mexican irregulars gave battle and hand to hand fighting in the dirty dark rooms of the adobe buildings followed. Throughout the night sentries drawn from the ranks of the sailors and marines paced through the streets, keeping a keen outlook for bands of prowlers. Most of the electric lighting system had been destroyed by the bombardment of the Federal and Chester and bonfires were lighted in the parks and upon the waterfront.

At times the powerful searchlights of the American men-of-war swept the sand dunes north and south of the city or burned a brilliant path along the harbor front. On shore the stillness was punctuated by staccato crack of rifle fire. Sentinels who passed steadily to and fro fired at times upon shadows which moved with suspicious stealth through the forms.

The fire was occasionally returned and from time to time the scattering shots seemed to resolve itself into mild volleys.

Most of the 4,000 sailors and marines slept in the open wrapped in thick service blankets, for the nights are chilly and a few blew in from the harbor. The liveliness of the American army in the streets of the partially blasted city made a picturesque scene with the moonlight flickering down upon the sleeping forms and the stacked arms.

Federals Reorganize

Rear Admiral Badger and Fletcher received reports that General Gustavo Maas, Federal commander at Vera Cruz, who fled at the approach of the Americans, is trying to reorganize a Mexican army near Terjoria, about ten miles northwest of this city on the railway line leading to Mexico. It was said that Maas had called upon the Federal garrison at Orizaba and Puebla Corboba to send reinforcements and field guns.

These reports did not cause the American naval authorities much anxiety, but they did have the effect of increasing the watchfulness of the invading forces.

Double lines of sentries were posted along the railway terminals in the western part of the city with orders to report at once to the military forces at the United States consulate.

American Consulate W. W. Canada and Rear Admiral Badger today prepared a proclamation that sailors and marines will be used for police duty throughout the city to prevent disorder. All cases of law-breaking will be tried before a military court.

The battleships Michigan, Louisiana and Minnesota, the latest to arrive, anchored in the inner harbor, so as to make the landing of additional sailors and marines easy.

Heavy Loss in Academy

Sailors lost to mortuary duty reported that the heaviest loss of life among the Mexicans occurred around the Naval Academy and arsenal, which were vigorously shelled by the Arkansas late Wednesday.

Pope Reported to Have Asked Huerta to Yield

CHICAGO, April 23.—Pope Pius X. has cabled to the apostolic delegate in Mexico, instructing him to ask President Huerta to yield to the United States in order to avoid further bloodshed, according to a cablegram received here from the Rome correspondent of the Daily News. The latter says he is informed similar exhortations have been cabled to Huerta by several foreign rulers, including a king, who offered his services as mediator.

city and arsenal, which were vigorously shelled by the Arkansas late Wednesday.

This bombardment was brought about by a fierce attack upon Americans from Mexicans who had taken refuge in these buildings. About 300 Mexicans barricaded themselves in the Naval Academy and opened a brisk rifle fire upon the American sailors and marines massed in the market place.

The Americans took shelter and returned the fire, but the academy building offered such a formidable protection American bullets were ineffectual. Captain W. R. Rush of the Florida, commanding the land forces, decided that the Mexicans could only be dislodged by bombardment and communicated with Rear Admiral Badger.

The guns of the big man-of-war were soon booming and heavy projectiles were crashing into the walls of the academy.

The Mexicans fled, leaving a number of dead and wounded behind. Eight of the Americans, however, had been shot down at this point before the irregulars were dislodged from their fortress.

The flag of Rear Admiral Badger now floats from the Minnesota which has taken her for his flagship.

"Old Glory" Over Hotel

The Stars and Stripes were over the Terminal Hotel where Rear Admiral Fletcher, chief in command of the land operations, has established his headquarters. Admiral Fletcher occupies an apartment adjacent to the room used by Special Envoy John Lind while he was living at the Terminal Hotel. Rear Admiral Fletcher's staff is composed of the following:

Captain Harry McInnis, chief of staff; Commander Stone, Lieutenant-Commander Edward C. Kalbfus, Naval Constructor Richard D. Givens, Lieutenant Albert M. Cohen, ordnance officer; Lieutenant MacCubbin, aide and secretary; Ensign Harold Duld and Ensign Mark L. Hersey, aides; Surgeon Middleton E. Elliott and Paymaster Christopher J. People.

Temporary hospitals have been established throughout the city, the chief one being in the Plaza Hotel which is in charge of Dr. Elliott of the dreadnought Florida.

Members of the American Medical Corps have been installed in San Sebastian Hospital where there are a number of wounded Mexicans.

Early today a number of machine guns were brought ashore from the newly-arrived battleships, some of them being posted on the flat roofs of the adobe houses. Sunrises found the roof of the Parochial Church, the tallest building in the city swarming with blue-jackets ready to pick off any Mexican snipers that might show themselves.

A machine gun was placed upon the roof of the Hotel Diligencia which was in the line of fire and was badly shot up. All the windows were broken by bullets.

Other machine guns have been planted around the railway terminals, the customs house, the United States Consulate, the postoffice, the cable office and other structures.

One incident occurred during the landing of American reinforcements which shows the spirit of friendship among the armed forces on the big international fleet.

Sees Menace In White Bread

The eminent scientist—Prof. Le Tulle, of Paris, recently made a remarkable statement regarding food conditions in France. It is even more applicable to America—he said:

"France has changed an essential of her nourishment. White bread is made more and more starchy, and is less and less nourishing. The rich products which are extracted go to feed the pigs. The baker now utilizes only fifty per cent of the wheat elements, whereas fifty years ago he utilized eighty-five per cent."

The "rich products" referred to, which are "extracted" from wheat, are the mineral elements—phosphate of potash, iron, sodium, etc. These elements are absolutely essential to proper nutrition of body, nerves and brain, yet they are nearly all thrown out by millers just to make the flour look white and pretty!

The lack of these invaluable phosphates is one of the chief causes of nervous prostration, dullness, languor, constipation and other ills—big and little.

sailors on the cruiser Essex and Albert Kimber, paymaster, was wounded. When several whale boats, carrying United States marines swept close to the English warship on their way to the customs house wharf the British tars gathered at the rail and cheered with night and main.

Americans Gallant Soldiers

The Americans have behaved with the utmost gallantry since operations began and there has been no complaint of any kind.

Rear-Admiral Fletcher is proud of his boys and sent the following message addressed to the men of the flotilla:

"The division commander desires to express his admiration at the splendid and efficient work of the naval brigade which captured Vera Cruz and the efficient support of the cruisers which reflect a great credit upon the accuracy of the fire of the gunners."

During the night the Americans on the western side of the city captured a number of straggling Mexicans, most of whom were armed with rusty old muskets. The freight sheds were turned into detention pens and the prisoners were locked up until they could be transferred to the warships.

Many of the Mexican dead were also buried during the night without any attempt at identification. Practically all were men of low caste, whose fighting had been without a single spark of patriotic animation.

A serious situation confronts the people of Vera Cruz. With business paralyzed and stores closed many families are without food and appeals have been sent to Consul Canada for relief. Hundreds of families were driven from their homes by the fighting in the city.

Cigar Makers Plan to Aid Volunteers

The Boston Cigar Makers' Union executive board voted to keep in good standing any member who enlists in the army or navy during the present Mexican controversy.

The union also expressed its intention of procuring for the families during the absence of those who may enlist.

Mother's Letter to Pinpoint in Mails

A letter written by the young man's mother to be in the mail in which she exhorted him to "be careful and don't get hurt."

British Claims on Customs Duties

LONDON, April 23.—In a financial crisis referring to the American seizure of the customs at Vera Cruz, the British Post Office has claimed that customs duties are payable to Mexico's foreign creditors, whatever duties are thus collected, should be equitably paid over to the bondholders.

the streets and are camped upon the sandy plains flanking the city without food or shelter.

Strive to Restore Order

The American naval authority hoped that the city would be rid of "snipers" by night, so that Rear-Admiral Fletcher could organize a temporary government of the city. It is the desire of Admiral Fletcher and Badger and Consul Canada to restore conditions to a semblance of normal as soon as possible so that the refugees may be cared for. Shopkeepers have been invited to reopen their stores, being promised full protection by the naval police force.

Communication with Mexico City was still interrupted, and keen anxiety was felt over the safety of Americans who are believed to be on their way to this city.

What SORT of War Shall We Have With Mexico?

(Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company)

War has begun in Mexico. Guns have been fired and lives have been laid down.

We have a task unavoidable before us. To say that we are fighting General Huerta and not Mexico expresses well our friendly feeling toward the Mexican race, victim for centuries of poverty, oppression, murder, superstition and hopeless degradation.

But of course we are not literally fighting merely HUERTA. We do not need twenty war vessels or appropriate fifty millions of dollars to fight ONE hard-faced Indian bandit.

We are sending the fleet, mobilizing the army and voting what millions may be needed to eliminate Huerta, to overthrow his army and all of his adherents.

We do not deceive ourselves as to the situation. Even those Mexicans that understand and hate Huerta will side with him, willy nilly.

"My country, right or wrong," applies in Mexico as elsewhere, and many a Mexican, with a heavy heart, but sullen determination to fight for the wrong, will follow Huerta, knowing what he is.

We understand that and know that we have WAR WITH MEXICO and with ALL of Mexico.

WHAT KIND OF WAR WILL IT BE? This is the question of importance. Shall we have a LONG war, a BLOODY war, a COSTLY war?

The questions are already asked and answered more or less accurately in a dozen ways and in fifty countries.

Americans can answer the questions for themselves better than others.

We know THIS. In ending Mexican rule on this North American continent we shall merely be finishing the work begun when we ended SPANISH rule in America.

The vices of Mexico are the vices planted there by the Spanish race and by Spanish misrule.

What we have done for Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines, we shall do for Mexico—AND MORE.

We shall free Mexico from a Spanish system, complicated by Indian bloodthirstiness, and solve the problem for Mexico and the Mexicans by making of that country UNITED STATES TERRITORY and of the people UNITED STATES citizens.

What we have done for Texas, formerly part of Mexico, we shall do now for all of Mexico that remains.

The thing cannot be done half way. The war will mean not merely conquering Mexico to turn the country over to some new collection of bandits. It will mean conquering, annexing, civilizing Mexico—and solving the Mexican problem, to the happiness of Mexico and to the benefit of the whole world.

How long will the war last?—no man can say.

The Mexican Consul-General declares that the war will last five years. It will not last five years, nor three.

Mexico will be conquered, made to understand that resistance is foolish and useless, in a short time.

There may be after that a long period of police work in the mountains, such as we had with our Indians here in the United States.

But while the army police look after the Indians and the half-breed outcasts, the civilization, the development of Mexico, the rescue of the unhappy population from hunger, hopelessness and oppression will go on.

The fighting in the mountains will not check civilization in the new Mexico, PART OF THE UNITED STATES, any more than our Indian fights checked civilization in the Western part of our country.

How much will the war cost?

The Mexican Consul-General says it will cost five hundred millions. That may be true. THE UNITED STATES CAN AFFORD IT. The territory that would be added to the United States would be cheap at five thousand millions.

And the prosperity and increased wealth that will belong to the Mexican people under United States government will far exceed ten thousand millions.

But it is not probable that the expenditure will be great. There will be some waste, some carelessness. But we have the ships, the guns, the men already. They might as well be working usefully in Mexico, WHERE THEY ARE ALL ANXIOUS TO BE, as walking up and down in the barracks of the navy yards at home. The chief difference in the cost will be the powder and shot and transportation.

What effect will the war have upon this Nation?

It will stimulate enthusiasm, stir up thought and patriotism, give opportunities to millions of Americans in new territory—it will give impetus to activity and life for which the Nation has been waiting.

When this war is over—and may the end come soon, for the sake of Mexico and her oppressed people—there will be many millions of acres south of our present frontier made prosperous, happy, useful, AND AMERICAN. There will be millions of heretofore unhappy peons treated as human beings, lifted from the mud of cruelty, slavery and superstitious ignorance.

And there will be one more step toward the proper development of this continent.

And an old-fashioned American boom will burst out in every city of the United States, and will find its echo in every little town and village of the new-made United States Territory in Mexico.

We shall show them how to build with bricks and stone and iron, instead of mud, and we shall show them how to hope and believe in themselves, raising them from helpless apathy.

And then we shall rest a little while, and look around to see what else we ought to do.

And the Mexicans, made over into United States citizens, will be, of all the world's people, the best satisfied with what has taken place.

BOSTON AMERICAN

FOOLING WITH FATE

An Englishman's Letters

From J. Percy Smith-Brown, Esquire, Hotel Plaza, Boston, to M. Eberington Bellingham-Cholmondeley (pseudonym), The Towers, Chorlton-cum-Hardy, Cirencostr, near Stoke-Pennington, the Lesser, Manx, England.

DEAR OLD TOP—Of all the extraordinary things in this extraordinary country the most extraordinary of all is the dished game they call baseball. It's a sort of glorified rounders watched by a lot of glorified boundaries.

I went to see a match between "Red Sox" and "Senators." The match was a deadly dull affair—not a bit like cricket. The batters were about one run an hour—fact, 'pon my honour. I've seen jolly old Irish run up 470 runs in that time, by Jove, which shows that cricket is about seven hundred times as fast as baseball.

The bouncer alive the ball to the wicket-keeper, who, by the bye, has no wicket to keep, and wears a wire mask—and rushing in, he catches the ball, and in course of time, "the bouncer" says to the wicket-keeper, "How's that for a three-hagger?"

Kindly refrain from touching me, my good man," I responded, "I am not in the least interested in your 'baggies'."

The bouncer scrutinized me closely, and said in course of time, "What's the matter? You LOOK funny!"

"I drew myself up to my full height and exclaimed, 'I look what I am, sir, an English gentleman.'"

"Oh, ENGLISH," said he, "that's the two best words in the language."

"The sun never sets on England's possession," I proudly reminded the blither.

"Why should it?" he replied, "it ain't a hen and they wouldn't hatch anyhow."

Extraordinary, what? The person must have been loony. 'Fon my word, I believe most American subjects have a slight loon.

They have a jolly amusing Foreign Minister over there. A Mr. Bryan. He isn't a bit like ripping old Sir Edward Greg. It appears some Mexican rotters arrested a couple of officers from an American battleship and the jolly old American Admiral ordered them to fire a salute to the American colours. Reminds me of my old friend, Admiral Bismarck. "Bismarck," he'd say to me (I usually met him after dinner), "Bismarck, Brown, m'boy, never say anything to the buggers more than one thing I once: then, damn, show 'em your broadside. Only syphen, eh?"

The Foreign Minister blooming well steps the jolly old admiral, and tells him to write the bally Mexican another letter. By the way, the old top is awful keen on writing letters. He writes 'em to Mexican Federal, Constitutional, Zanettists, and assorted buggles as none of 'em ever bothers to reply, it seems a harmless enough amusement.

It is dished, undebatable, dear old me to refer to money matters between gentlemen. Your last letter was positively scathing, old chap, and I had a good mind not to ask you again to put up bally points with the buggles for me, but it just occurred to me that the bally horse's price might shorten, so get the two best words in the language, and I'll be a good fellow.

Your old friend,

Mexico and Santa Anna

By REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY

IT WAS eighty-one years ago that Santa Anna, the man with the wooden leg and the heart of stone, was, by some sort of very destiny lifted to the Presidency of the Republic of Mexico.

Santa Anna not only crippled his country by his incompetency, but disgraced her by his cold blooded cruelty and inhumanity, and left behind him a name as maledorous as it is contemptible.

As long as men read history they will shudder at the story of the "Alamo"—the modern Thermopylae where the handful of Texans carved out for themselves a fame as heroic as that belonging to Leonidas and his Spartans. There were just 178 of them, and against them were 6,000 Mexicans under Santa Anna, completely surrounding them, shutting them off from all outside succor.

We know how the 178 fought, we know how, inspired by Crockett, Bowie and Travis, they made the record for courage that will shine as long as the stars. And we know how, upon seeing the downright weakness of further struggle, the remnant agreed to surrender upon assurance that their lives would be spared, and how they were, despite this assurance, massacred to the last man by order of Santa Anna.

But the history rolled by, and the tables were fairly turned at San Jacinto. With their cry "Remember the Alamo!" Don Houston's Texans rushed upon Santa Anna's Mexicans, and though outnumbered two to one, made short work of them.

Eight hundred were killed and the remainder of the 1,200 captured, including Santa Anna. The old coward was caught up a tree hiding among the thick leaves. Released by the Texans, Santa Anna went back to Mexico. The Mexicans disposed him, but he managed to get re-elected in 1846. In the Mexican war he played general until he was scared nearly to death at Cerro Gordo, where he came very near being captured, escaping in his wretched disguise.

He kept his story hush to the last, dying in Mexico in 1876, at the age of seventy-eight.

Character and Credit

Young Man Doubts the Story of Andrew Carnegie's Start on $600 Which He Borrowed With No Security Except His Honesty

By DR. CHARLES H. PARKHURST

THE following extract from a letter just received will serve a good turn as a text from which to speak a half dozen frank sentences to its author and to any other young man like-minded with himself.

"Dear Sir—in an article by you in the Boston AMERICAN, I note what you say with reference to successful men and the wonderful possibilities for young men to succeed and rise through honesty; and with your own prospect for you or the youthful Scotchman whom you quote, for I admire him very much, but the fact that you say that any young man has a fair chance to succeed nowadays is most absurd."

"How much Pullman or Steel stock do you suppose this youthful Andy would be able to add to his credit with a cash capital of $600, and then being fortunate enough to borrow it? How many transactions of that kind occur nowadays in three any banking institution that will lend the most deserving young man of the country the smallest amount with honesty alone for their security?"

It is the last paragraph which specially deserves attention. Honesty and solidity of character are great, but they are not a substitute for capital. The estimation of practical men than our correspondent imagines. He appears to suppose that some "Andy" could secure a loan with nothing offered in security but his credit, and that the bank would do it. Just at this time it cannot be done today. In fact, it cannot be done today. Now, there is a great deal to be learned from this.

The boy "Andy" has become a man in the meantime and is one of a number of men who have taken stock in it. He is worth for $100,000 of the stock.

No, the world is not growing worse, and the report for integrity is no less today than when "Andy" borrowed his cash. Personal soundness is taken account of on the market, and "character" is the basis of credit.
